Hunter's Soul is a 2014 romantic-drama film written, directed and produced by Anna Boden, Ryan Fleck and Ash Mayes. It is based on the true story of a self-described, "Goth-looking young man who finds himself transforming into a woman."

Synopsis Conrad (Matt Barr) struggles with his appearance, his emotional and relationship issues and how he came to be born into the body of a 21-year-old woman named Gia (Kelen Coleman). Gia was in a coma when she delivered him, and her parents are determined to switch her to a medically appropriate body. Conrad's relationships with his boyfriend, Daniel (Zhao Shuzhen), and family are strained by his female body, sexuality, and the controversial decision to switch Gia's gender. Cast Kelen Coleman as Gia (Conrad's wife) Matt Barr as Conrad (Gia's husband) Dane DeHaan as younger Conrad Chris Pappas as Forrest David Reale as Robert John Oliver as Norris Ali Wong as David Aaron Mayne as Conrad (as Aaron Mayne) Ava Wong as younger Gia Xavier Phillips as older Conrad Renata Alexander as younger Gia Je-Yeon Lee as Gia Zhao Shuzhen as Daniel Luiz Pineda as young Daniel Ash Mayes as Dr. Stavinski Anne G. Owens as Allison (Colleague) Cori Tolan as Susie (Gia's co-worker) Production The film was inspired by the true story of Georgina "Gina" Le Grand in

Voorheesville, New York who was in a near-death experience in August 2002, which resulted in part of her brain dying. It was nine months before she was conscious again. The family was told by police that her case was unique. The fact that she died of a cerebral accident and had no brain damage was a coincidence, yet it gave hope. Coleman was cast as Gia and Barr was cast as Conrad. The film was shot over 23 days in July 2013 at the cities of Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Easton, Pennsylvania and North Hollywood, California. The film is an independent produced by Anna Boden and Ryan Fleck's production company, 20th Century Fox. It was released on 24 December 2014 in North America by Fox Searchlight Pictures and in the United
